Celerie Collection

Natural, Unique, Modern

The Celerie Collection designed by Celerie Kemble for Laneventure incorporates natural materials in the designs. The items introduced this market are all made from rattan and entirely woven or assembled by hand for a truly unique item. The innate characteristics of rattan allow visual interest in Celerie's designs, yet still following a sleek minimal feel. The finish options make the products an easy choice; change the finish and get an entirely different application. Celerie's new designs are available in any of the 41 Excursions finishes or select from more than 1,000 paint colors from the Sherwin-Williams paint fan.

Below is a sampling of Laneventure's premier design from the Celerie Collection:

Wicker Daybed with Canopy

The Wicker Daybed is constructed of natural, sustainable rattan. Rattan poles are extracted into a smaller diameter and are then woven by hand to create this show stopping daybed. Slightly overlapping woven oval shapes accent the sides of the daybed and allow a breezy open design. The softly peaked back allows a resting spot for all your favorite accent pillows. Available to retailers October 2008.
